

CEO of Plug and Play Tech Center to join metabridge British Columbia event hosted in Kelowna

June 10-11, 2010

For Immediate Release – June 1st, 2010

Central Okanagan / Kelowna – the impressive list of VIP participants for June 2010 edition of the metabridge event series continues to grow and will be the largest and most impressive to date. The metabridge organizing committee are excited to host over twenty senior technology leaders from California's Silicon Valley and abroad, including high profile companies such as Google, Facebook, Trinity Ventures, and PCMAG. Saeed Amidi the Founder, President and CEO of Plug and Play Tech Center recently confirmed his participation last week.

Located in the heart of Silicon Valley PlugandPlayTechCenter.com is a community of over 280 technology start-up companies in the areas of Web 2.0, software (SaaS), systems, semiconductor and telecomm verticals. Since its inception in January 2006 the center has helped the startups raise in excess of $700 million in venture funding. The start-up companies have created a cumulative value of 2 Billion Dollars. Entrepreneur-centered with strong relationships with the most influential venture capital firms of Silicon Valley and Ivy League universities in the nation, PlugandPlayTechcenter.com has become the ultimate place to launch and grow promising new technologies.

The two day event will consist of interactive presentations, round table discussions, and multiple VIP networking occasions for technology start-ups across British Columbia. CEO's and Founders of BC's technology community will have exclusive access to the VIP's over the two day period to pitch and seek advice from some of the brightest minds in technology. Event tickets for the two day event as well as single tickets to our industry wide reception on June 11th are also available. Tickets and event information can be found at www.metabridge.ca metabridge is a unique British Columbia wide initiative that provide technology companies with direct connection and access to key international technology partners for investment, joint strategic partnerships, mentorship and advisory opportunities, will be held in Kelowna on June 10-11, 2010.

The programme is supported by The Central Okanagan Economic Development Commission (CO EDC) in partnership with the BC Innovation Council (BCIC) and with support from the Okanagan Science & Technology Council (OSTEC).
